

ALUMNI:

JOESFINA SYAWATI MANSOR

Administrative and Diplomatic Officer, Public Service Department of Malaysia

“I love EMAS program because it equips students with the relevant skills and competencies required in doing ones’ job and enhances our overall knowledge in all areas such as in politics, economics and management...”

Realizing the need to equip herself with higher knowledge and advanced skills to enhance her competencies both in her career and as an individual, inspired Joesfina to pursue her masters degree. Motivated by her senior colleague who had gone through the same experience made her enroll in the program.

After considering numerous other universities, including both local and international, Joesfina could not go past her first choice—UiTM, in particular FSPPP, that offers ‘Executive Masters of Administrative Science (EMAS)’. While considering several criteria for choosing the best masters program relevant to her working field; Joesfina regarded EMAS program as a quality program taught by well-experienced professors and lecturers.

Through the EMAS program, Joesfina has gained quality knowledge, both tacit and explicit, enhanced her critical thinking, increased her ability to analyze and synthesize information, and further improved her ability to formulate effective solutions to day to day problems either at the workplace or at a personal level. “I love EMAS program because it equips students with relevant skills and competencies that are relevant and enhances our overall knowledge in all areas such as in politics, economics and management and in the process builds my confidence...” says Joesfina. Already now, Joesfina aims to further her PHD in the ‘public policy’ field, and recommends postgraduate programs offered by FSPPP, as one of the best places to embark on masters or even a PHD journey.
